

Celebrity Sparkling Glamour for Preshhus

Preshhus provide sparkling glamour for every occasion with a classic collection of red carpet jewellery and accessories.

Inspired by unique treasures found in antique shops, art dealerships and museums, Preshhus pieces are designed with the highest quality crystals, beads and semi-precious stones.

Preshhus' charms and trinkets make the perfect present because all of the jewellery and accessories are presented in handmade Thai Silk drawstring bags and pouches.

The Preshhus brand is synonymous with vintage glamour and as such is immensely popular with the most stylish celebrities. A growing number of celebrity fans ensure that Preshhus consistently enjoys media exposure.

Pixie Lott is a prolific wearer of Preshhus jewellery. The pop princess wore our earrings on the Graham Norton Show and is regularly profiled in lifestyle and fashion magazines sporting Preshhus accessories.

Millions of viewers have seen Strictly Come Dancing judge Alesha Dixon wear our earrings on the primetime show, while style icon Pixie Geldof wore a Preshhus necklace to this year's Graduate Fashion Week.

Preshhus is a true global brand as hotel heiress Paris Hilton and The Hills star Kristin Cavallari have both been snapped in Heat magazine wearing our statement necklaces.

Selected Preshhus rings, bracelets, necklaces, earrings, brooches and accessories have also featured in websites and publications such as Cosmopolitan, Grazia, Style, Closer, Bliss and Brides.

Preshhus was created by Julie Rainer-Seath, an experienced business woman, who has successfully launched collections of stunning jewellery pieces for boutiques and fashion retailers from her own company Elegant Emporium.

Julie possesses the rare ability to add a certain twist to antique locket, pendants and brooches to turn them into modern-day masterpieces that capture the allure of enchanting occasions.

Preshhus is an exclusive brand of Elegant Emporium, which is based in the leafy town of Westerham in Kent.

Clients have come to expect the highest commitment to service and quality when dealing with Julie and her team. Elegant Emporium employees are always on hand to help you follow the latest fashion trends in jewellery.
